BERGLAND PAYS AREA A SHORT VISIT

MOVING? Please use form inside paper and give full information. Mailing list is run on Friday for following week.

We had a call from Carl Stenson of Dallas, a long-time friend who heads up the USDA's news office over there, and he informed us that Ag Secretary Bob Bergland would be at DFW airport for about half an hour between planes and invited us along with other news types to visit him. We had never had the chance to meet him before so we went to the news conference.

We only got in a couple of questions. We wanted to know if the recent conferences between USDA and EPA officials in Texas with farmers, ranchers and Extension Service people was a new approach. We wondered if regulations like USDA people in FDA and those in EPA, etc., planned to confer with people actually involved in the industry before the regulations start "shootin' from the hip" before they really understand the problems. Bergland's New Policy Aimed at Getting Facts Before New Regulations Are Set, Industry In-Put Prevents Mistakes

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last Wednesday at brief news conference at DFW Airport Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland confirmed that the recent visit to Texas by Dr. Perry L. Adkisson, Dr. Robert Culler and Stephen J. Jellinek, top officials of USDA and EPA, was the start of a new policy under which people in industries affected by USDA and EPA regulations would be consulted before new regulatory rules were announced or put in place. Bergland said information on the impact and economic effect of new regulations would be explored with producers and that the aim was to prevent some of the problems created by "earlier mistakes" caused by lack of understanding of industry and the workings in them.

College Station - Key officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency made a two-day tour of Texas recently to consult with dozens of farmers and ranchers and seek their opinions regarding a number of programs and regulations. (CONT. ON PAGE 6)

Meat Board Cites New Scientific Challenge to MIT Nitrite Study

Chicago - A recent study by Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientists linking sodium nitrite with cancer in rats was "inconclusive, open to misinterpretation and might even be erroneous," a spokesman for the Pork Industry Group of the National Live Stock & Meat Board said today.

Mark W. Thomas, Meat Board Vice President and Secretary of the Pork Industry Group, noted that a new report by a team of Iowa State University researchers calls into question several aspects of the study. The MIT research, conducted under contract for the Food and Drug Administration, forms the basis for plans by the FDA and the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to "phase out" the use of sodium nitrite in processed meats. The agencies are required by law to take action in regard to substances found to be carcinogenic in experimental animals.

Thomas stated that the Iowa State review raises specific and pertinent questions as to whether the MIT study actually did show nitrite itself to be carcinogenic in rats.

"This should be clarified through additional research before any regulatory actions are put into motion, especially since no previous research has been able to produce carcinogens related to nitrite itself," he said. Recent work in Canada did not indicate a cancer risk from bacon containing nitrite compared to bacon containing nitrate.

Specifically, the Washington decision makers sought information from the agricultural producers on the integrated pest-management program, the use of the herbicide, 2,4,5-T, in brush control systems for mesquite-covered rangeland, the livestock predator situation and the use of compound 1080 (sodium monofluoroacetate) for coyote control, and other conservation practices.

Dr. Perry L. Adkisson, vice president for agriculture and renewable resources of Immokalee, Breakfast and Lunch will be served at the sale. Sale headquarters will be the Sheraton Inn at Ft. Myers, Fla.

Auctioneer will be Gerald Bowie, Farm, Fred Barfield or Travis Wise, P. O. Box 356, Immokalee, Fla. 33934, 813/657-3611 or The Cattle Marketing Group, Inc., 8500 Village Drive, 8500 Building, Suite 105, San Antonio, Texas 78217, 512/656-2076.

sources, organized the tour and Pest Management Conference to acquaint the USDA and EPA program officials with Texas producers, and to provide a vehicle for producers and decision makers to share common concerns and discuss program results.

"It is our responsibility to keep the Washington decision makers, producers, and consumers well informed about issues vital to food and fiber production. The tour and conference gave the Washington-based group an opportunity to study and observe the real world problems, and to visit with many farmers and ranchers. As a result of the dialogue and discussions, decisions which must be made by USDA and EPA can be more objective and less subject to the pressures of emotionalism," Adkisson said.

The two leaders of the Washington delegation, Dr. Rupert Cutler, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Steven Jellinek, Assistant Administrator for Toxic Substances with the Environmental Protection Agency, agreed with Adkisson.

"We came to look and listen," Cutler emphasized.

Cutler, who is in charge of Conservation, Research and Education, supervises the Science and Education Administration, (SEA), the Soil Conservation Service, the Forest Service and is director for the Department's Commodity Credit Corporation.

"Secretary Bergland is interested in preserving and protecting the family farm. The integrated pest management program — and the ECONOCOT cotton production system developed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for the Trans-Pecos area — clearly fits in with the Secretary's objectives. The bottom line for that program is profit, and cotton producers are concerned with maximizing profit — through management of all systems," Cutler added.

His observations made on the Texas trip were "very helpful," Cutler emphasized, as they will aid in justification for future budget recommendations for research, Extension and environmental programs.

Jellinek also expressed appreciation for the opportunity to "get out into the fields and on ranches to talk with producers about their concerns."

October 12, 1978

The EPA, he added, is now in the process of studying and evaluating comment on the use of the herbicide, 2,4,5-T.

Jellinek indicated that "no immediate hazard has been proved as yet." He indicated that a study made by two Harvard scientists in June, 1977, showing very minute traces of dioxin, a highly toxic low-level contaminant, 2,4,5-T — in the milk of two San Diego nursing mothers continues to be a public controversy.

Toxic animals also have been used to monitor the effect of the dioxin TCDD (2,3,7,8-tetrachlorodibenzo-p-dioxin) and Jellinek emphasized that the question is whether the deleterious effects produced at high levels in test animals indicate risk at much lower levels of exposure in humans, and whether the benefits outweigh the possible risks.

But Cutler and Jellinek indicated that EPA is concerned with minimizing the cost for farmers and ranchers of brush and weed control — and in so doing livestock production — while protecting human health. They made gains first-hand knowledge of the problems encountered by farmers of ranchers and to discuss with them problems involved in the use of certain pesticides.

"The USDA will recommend the continued usage of 2,4,5-T if it is shown to be the only alternative. It is economical and if there is sufficient evidence of human safety," Cutler said. By case, the herbicide application is restricted to a safe distance from waterways and homes, he added.

Officials of the Texas and Southern Cattle Raisers Association, the Texas Association of Cotton Producers Organization, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, the Texas Beef Cattle Producers Board, Texas Pest Management Association, and other producer organizations shared their opinions and ideas with the USDA and EPA officials.

Agricultural producers told the visitors from Washington that the economic and biological benefits of the chemical 2,4,5-T when used according to instructions, cannot be disputed. Few agricultural chemicals have a longer record of safe use than 2,4,5-T for mesquite control, they said.

While there is no evidence that 2,4,5-T itself is poisonous to humans or other animals when used according to the label, commercial formulations, however, contain trace amounts of the contaminant dioxin TCDD. Research shows that TCDD dissipated rapidly in the environment, usually within 48 hours, and does not accumulate in natural systems or the food chain.

Officials of the Texas A&M University System Agricultural Experiment Station emphasized that domestic production of 2,4,5-T may be accomplished with an extremely low TCDD content — .001 to 0.03 ppm — and are encouraging continued efforts by manufacturers to reduce the TCDD content. They recommended the establishment of "no adverse effect level" for TCDD in 2,4,5-T.

The A&M agricultural officials also emphasized that 2,4,5-T is applied at 5 to 10-year intervals for range improvement, and in many cases its application rates are reduced by 50 percent when it is applied in combination with other herbicides such as dicamba or picloram.

They emphasized there is no other herbicide currently available that can be used to replace 2,4,5-T in integrated brush control work. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service support the continued safe, effective use of 2,4,5-T in integrated brush management systems.

Fort Worth Show Premium Lists Are Being Mailed

Premium Lists for the 83rd annual Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show, Jan. 24 through Feb. 4, are being mailed this week to more than 5,000 potential exhibitors, reports W. R. Watt, Jr., President-Manager of this nation's oldest continuing livestock show.

Awards for large animals will total $100,000, small stock $35,000, horse show $35,000, and junior show over $150,000, plus a number of special prizes, making an excess of $200,000 for the livestock show and another $130,000 for cowboys who enter the accompanying edition of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo.

"This year's Premium List includes a number of additional show classes, as well as new times and rules," Watt said. "Exhibitors are urged to read the books carefully to avoid errors on entry forms."

He said entry deadlines for cattle, horses, sheep, swine, donkeys and mules will be Dec. 10, and rabbit, poultry and pigeon exhibitors will have until Jan. 15 to enter.

Foremost among the changes will be in the junior show, Watt reported. "Our junior show has experienced enormous growth in recent years, and the new times will allow a better presentation schedule for the youngsters as well as cut down on the time they will be required to be at the show," he said.

Semimental heifers will be a new classification this year along with the other breeds that have shown in the junior beef breeding heifer show in past years. Arrival time for junior heifers is Wednesday, Jan. 24.

The junior steer show has been moved to the second half of the show and steers will arrive Tuesday, Jan. 30. Shorthorn steers are added to classes with other British, American and European crossbreeds in this division.

The Sale of Champions of the junior show has been moved to 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 3, in Sale Barn 6. All champion steers, lambs and barrows will be sold at that time.

"We believe that by combining and holding these junior sales on Saturday they will be more appealing to prospective buyers," Watt said, and added that "all bidders are welcome to this and other sales at the Stock Show."

In the breeding sheep divisions, both open and junior class judging will parallel each other to help exhibitors and better utilize pen space. The junior lamb show is scheduled Friday, Feb. 2.

Devon breeding cattle and the National Pinzgauer Show join with other traditional breeds showing here in open contests. There are also classes for beef carcasses judging. A number of horse show classes have changed, too.

English and French varieties of rabbits are included in a new Lop Rabbit Club class, and Champagne D'Argent rabbits will show under their new name of Creme D'Argent. Interest continues for strong pigeon and poultry shows, also, with assurances of a good turnout of quality birds.

The intercollegiate meat judging contest will be held at Gooch Packing Co. in Abilene. Other judging contests for college, 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America will be staged similar to past years.

Cattle sales scheduled include auctions for Shorthorn, Polled Hereford, Angus, Longhorn, Charolais, Simmental and Pinzgauer. After the usual auction of commercial Hereford females will be an offering of selected Hereford bulls. Sales will also be conducted for Paint and Quarter Horses and Mules and Donkeys. All sales will be conducted on the show grounds. For more information, contact the show office, 3400 Crestline Rd., or by writing the Stock Show at P. O. Box 150, Fort Worth.

with nitrite-free bacon. The Canadian government, after reviewing the MIT study, announced it will not initiate additional restrictions.

Thomas said it is urgent that FDA and USDA carefully review the Iowa State group's recommendation that the MIT work "be very carefully repeated before any precipitous action is taken."

"Since no nitrosamine analyses were included in the MIT report, it's possible the increased lymph tumor rate may have been nitrosamine-related, not nitrite-related," Thomas said. "Nitrosamines are known to be carcinogenic in rats and could have been in the feed on when and how often nitrite was added to feed formulations; the method of extrapolating to human risk; and lack of a "clear dose-response relationship" in regard to increasing lymphomas with increasing dietary nitrite.

According to the Iowa State evaluation, the MIT study does not specifically state that nitrite caused cancer of the lymph system in the rats. The term "lymphoma" is used in the report to describe all lymph tumors without differentiating between benign and malignant.

The Iowa researchers concluded: "Benefits of nitrite usage (anti-botulinal effects and others) must be balanced against whatever risks are determined to be present in the final analysis."

The evaluation of the MIT study at Iowa State was conducted in response to a request from Representative Charles Grassley (R-Iowa) in accordance with the USDA-FDA statement of August 11 calling for "external scientific scrutiny."

The Iowa State group was headed up by Dr. Joseph G. Sebrank of the Department of Animal Science and Food Technology.

Hides & Offal

Des Moines, Oct. 5 (USDA) — The value of hide and offal from the average 1,000 pound slaughter steer for the week ending October 6, 1978, was estimated as $8.52 per 100 pound live weight compared with $8.37 the previous week.

After years of genetic research, cattle experts have found Brangus calves to be the most profitable breed combination for stocker/feeders.

Because of their 3/8 Brahman-5/8 Angus heritage, Brangus calves are hardy, adaptable to climatic extremes, and are pest and disease resistant. At the same time, they gain quickly and efficiently on feed or forage, and weigh 75 to 100 lbs. heavier than English breeds.

Brangus feeders lay down internal fat early, finish early, and are ready for slaughter at preferred weights with maximum red meat and minimum excess fat. This problem-free performance plus high demand at the marketplace make Brangus stockers/feeders the animals cattleman can depend on for maximum profit on the bottom line.

Brangus feeders are preferred by packers and consumers alike, because they give the most pounds of meat at the lowest possible cost, and bring top prices at the stockyard and in the supermarket.

Hardy! Adaptable! Profitable! BRANGUS! The stocker/feeder you've been waiting for.

Clements Sets Up Farmers, Ranchers Election Committee

Gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements today announced the appointment of Fred Wulff of Brady and Jay Anderson of Eagle Lake and East Bernard as co-chairmen of Farmers and Ranchers for Clements.

Wulff, a rancher in McCulloch County, is past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and is a member of the School Land Board of Texas.

Anderson is a milo, rice and soybean grower and an agribusinessman in Colorado County. He is a charter director of American Rice Inc. and is an advisory director of the Bank for Cooperative in Houston. He is president and owner of Prater Commodities Inc. and is a director of Rice Belt Warehouse Inc. in El Campo. He is a past member of the National Rice Advisory Committee.

"I'm convinced that Bill Clements has a much better understanding of the problems of my neighbors and friends, people who are the farmers and ranchers of Texas. Bill has faced many of the same problems experienced by farmers and ranchers in starting a business," Anderson said.

Wulff said, "As a rancher himself, Bill knows the problems of rising costs, declining markets and regulations limiting the effective marketing of our products. Bill Clements is a fiscal conservative."

Other members of Farmers and Ranchers for Clements include: Senator Rob Price, Pampa; John Matthews, Abilene; C. J. Holloway, Athens; Sid Weiser, Lampasas; Jack Garrett, Danbury; Bob Cluck, Gruver; Val Lehman, Kingsville; J. G. Phillips, Jr., West Columbia; Robin Armstrong, Armstrong; Dale Dorn, San Antonio; B. K. Johnson, LaPrere; Glynn E. Alexander, Trinidad; Zack Fisher, Memphis; J. H. Clement, Kingsville; David Britt, Wheeler; James Whittenburg, Amarillo; Jim Campbell, Pampa; Billy B. Davis, Pampa; Eldon Dudley, Perryton; Gene Whitehead, Menard; B. F. Phillips, Lewisville; Mrs. Charles Tandy, Borger; R. J. "Red" Nunley, Sabin; Bruce Smith, Athens; A. C. Machemehl, Bellville.

BILL CLEMENTS WILL CUT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Texas was built by men with the vision to look ahead and the grit to get things done. Bill Clements is the man to keep this tradition alive for the future of Texas.

Bill Clements will bring a strong, fresh and tough approach to our government in Austin. He is a businessman, not a politician.

Bill Clements started with nothing and built a successful, worldwide company with hard work and the skill to manage men and money. And now Bill Clements wants to preserve the future of our state and he wants the working people of Texas to have the same opportunities he had.

With his proposed "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," Bill Clements is committed to protecting Texans from excessive taxation and runaway government spending. He is pledged to cutting taxes and returning that money directly to the taxpayers.

As former Chairman of the Southern Methodist University Board of Governors, Bill Clements knows how to make education in Texas the best in the Nation. He's for discipline in the classroom and "back to basics" quality education.

As the son and grandson of farmers, Bill Clements knows the frustrations that an indifferent government can cause people who make their living off the land. He will use the strength of the State Government to fight burdensome Federal restrictions.

Replacement Cattle Prices Were Mixed During Past Week

St. Joseph, Oct. 6 (USDA) - National feeder cattle and calf receipts this week 381,700 compared with 288,800 and 342,600 a year ago. Considerable unevenness developed in price trends for feeder and calves across the nation again this week. No clear cut price trend emerged this week. However, prices generally modestly lower.

On the river, prices ranged steady to 1.50 higher, except Kansas City and St. Joseph moved steady to 1.00 lower on calves with steer calves as much as 3.00 off in St. Joseph.

Stuph & Thangs

story in Columns 4 & 5).
Bergland says yes, they plan to consult with industry people in the future and avoid some of the "earlier mistakes". This sure or to be a blessing and can save USDA and its various branches some embarrassment. We also wanted to know if USDA had any plans to help farmers and ranchers improve their marketing power, since they seem to be low men on the totem pole and by the time they get their products trickles down to the producer level there ain't much left. Bergland says no, they don't have any plans along that line since laws are already in place to permit them to organize co-ops and marketing associations.

Bergland also pointed out that corn farmers, who are in the midst of a bumper crop, are to blame for their problems, since they ignored the set-aside program and pointed out that current farm law has boosted income 25% this year over last, and increased exports, market development and compliance with set-aside programs were the solution to surpluses.

It was easy to understand why people in USDA like Dr. Donald Kennedy and Carol Tucker Foreman and the late lamented Dr. Angelotti have been able to take the hit in their teeth and try to ram their ideas down the throats of the rest of us. Bergland comes across as a very mild man and not the type who would be inclined to jerk the slack out of a rambunctious employee. He is also highly consumer oriented, a facet of his nature which was revealed when these subjects were brought up by the daily newspaper and radio & TV people present. You could almost feel the fervor as he described what the new free food stamp program would do for the poor & aged.

One of the interesting things came in Bergland's answers about the cotton dust problem. He said this dust control, which was making all manner of headlines in recent weeks, was at least two or three years away. The machinery unit even been invented, much less built, yet. Bergland said the Carter Administration was in general agreement with his proposed new counter cyclonic meat import proposal. The only drawback is that Carter still wants to be able to manipulate meat imports, at his whim. Carter don't want to have his hands tied.

Bergland has one of the toughest jobs in Government as head of USDA. Our impression was that he needs to understand a good tough Marine drill officer and jerk some of his employees down off their soap boxes and tell 'em where to head in at.

Ever think, The Edifier.
P. S.: Uncle Dunk figgers after reading the details of the new Tax Bill the Senate is workin' on the EPA sure or to crack down on that body. That hot air smog would smother a cockroach. Can you imagine how much of that $164 Billion tax cut will ever take place since it depends on reduction of federal spending? Dunk says them free commercials some of the radio & TV stations are runnin' tellin' the wonders of air bags and automatic restraints in autos or to entitle the rest of us unconstructed rebels to equal time. Foster Price Sets Hereford Sale Oct. 23 At San Angelo Auction

San Angelo, Texas - Foster S. Price's fourth annual "Growthability" Hereford sale will be held at Producers Livestock Auction here Monday, Oct. 23, beginning at 1 p.m.

The Price herd features proven growthability, performance and show ring results. For three years in a row, 1976, 1977 and 1978, Price Herefords were top gainers in the ZIA and Lone Star bull tests. In reports he was settin' in the harbor shop last week when one of the fellers down at the Courthouse came in and expressed dismay because they had had a meetin' of lifetime Democratic politicians and there was a surprising number openly confessin' they were goin' to vote for Bill Clements instead of Democrat John Hill for Governor. Looks like we got a couple of real hosses in this one and in the battle between John Tower and Bob Krueger for the U.S. Senate. Crossin' Party Lines is stylish in Texas this year! - Thus, sal, Brothers!

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

By JOHN SOSNOWY

The American Red Brangus Association moved into new quarters at 6900 Scenic Brook Drive in Austin (78736) on Sept. 29. The new phone number is 512/288-2840. For those of you familiar with the area, the office is located in Oak Hill just past the "Y" going west on Highway 71. It's on the left at the entrance to Scenic Brook West. Ample parking is available, even for truck and trailer rigs. Drop by when you're in the area. The office remains under the capable direction of Anita Polk.

Heifer Futurity
Plans have been completed for our first ARBA Superior Quality Heifer Futurity and sale on Dec. 1. Futurity judging will be held at 10 a.m. at the Paleface Ranch headquarters in Spicewood, Texas. As our Futurity judges, we're fortunate to have secured the services of Dr. Randall Groome, internationally known and respected livestock judge and beef cattle specialist.

There are two heifer classes, a senior class for heifers born between Oct. 15 and Dec. 31, and a junior class for heifers born between Jan. 1 and Mar. 15.

Each ranch was allowed only one nomination, so every heifer is top of the line. $2,250 in total prize money will be awarded to the winners in each class and the Grand Reserve Champion heifer. Texas State Land Commissioner and Red Brangus breeder Bob Armstrong will be on hand to make the presentations to the winners.

All Futurity heifers will be sold immediately following the 7th Annual Paleface Ranch bull sale on the afternoon of Dec. 1. This sale will offer an unprecedented opportunity for you to acquire top-notch females that heretofore have been unavailable at any price.

Call Anita Polk at 512/288-2840 or the Lakeway Inn direct at 512/261-6600. Reunion 20 will have something for

ICA Cattle Drive "Resounding Success"

More than 500 persons converged on Georgetown Sept. 29-30 for the 1st Annual Independent Cattlemen's Association Cattle Drive & Auction. ICA President Roy Wheeler pronounced the event a resounding success with over 400 head of livestock sold Sept. 30 to buyers from North, South and Central Texas following an old-fashioned "Trail Drivers' Party" held the night before the sale. Alvin Braun, owner of the Georgetown Commission Co., donated his facility for the ICA auction.

The prime attraction of the six-hour sale was the grand champion fat heifer purchased by Deluxe Supermarket of San Antonio for $1,500. Other high-selling animals sold included a Longhorn steer donated by Happy Shahan Ranch in Bracketville and purchased by H. C. Youmans' Stockade Cattle Co., rodeo producers of Beaumont, registered Brahman bull donated by Kootz Ranch of Victoria County, a Beefmaster bull donated by Les Jett of Atascosa County; a registered Angus bull donated by the Santa Fe Ranch of Santa Gertrudis County; and a registered Santa Gertrudis bull donated by Nine Bar Ranch of Cypress, Texas.

"We thank all of those who participated in our sale for giving us the support we need to fight for the cattlemen's rights," said Wheeler. "We are very pleased at the outcome and plan an even bigger statewide sale next year."

Donations or contributions of this kind are still being accepted by individual county chapters throughout the state for sales in local areas. Funds raised will be used to protect the livestock industry at the legislative level, to betterment of ranch and farm income, to conduct research in livestock diseases and to provide information to farmers and producers concerning culture needs.

The best substitute for intelligence is a closed mouth.

TEXAS RED ANGUS NEWS

Texas Expects To Have Large Delegation At ARAA Convention

Rowena, Texas — Clifford Halfmann, president of Texas Red Angus Assn., said a large delegation of TRA members is expected to attend the Silver Anniversary Convention, Show and Sale of the Red Angus Association of America in San Francisco, Nov. 1 through Nov. 4.

"I believe lots of Texas Red Angus members will go to the convention because of proposed by-law changes which will affect Texas," Halfmann said. One of those by-law proposals would cut the number of ARAA regions in Texas down from two regions to one, and thus reduce Texas' representation on the national board to one member.

"Too, there are going to be several Texas cattle competing in the 25th Anniversary National show including a bull being taken by Tim Bauer, Winnie, and five head to be taken by TFA Junior members Bobby and Barry Nabours of Rogers, and Mark Miller of Joshua, Halfmann said. Dr. Joe Armstrong, beef specialist with the University of Georgia, will judge the show, which is expected to draw about 100 head of the best Red Angus in America.

Ronald Reagan, former governor of California, will keynote the convention in its general membership meeting Nov. 1.

The general session and committee reports will be on Thursday, Nov. 2, followed by election of ARAA officers.

The National Red Angus Show will be held on Friday, Nov. 3, and the Silver Anniversary Banquet and Ball that night. The National Red Angus Sale will be in San Francisco's Cow Palace on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Texas Red Angus Elects Officers, Begins Bull Test

Corpus Christi — The Texas Red Angus Association re-elected Clifford Halfmann, Rowena, as president for another one-year term, and re-elected the other officers, along with three new directors, in a meeting held in conjunction with the Silver Anniversary Convention, Show and Sale of the Red Angus Association of America in San Francisco, Nov. 1 through Nov. 4.

Red Angus Booth At Dallas Fair

Dallas — Clark McKelvey, Justin, and other members of Texas Red Angus Association are manning an attractive Red Angus display booth at the State Fair of Texas here that runs through next week.

McKelvey has a cow-calf pair, and another breeder has a bull in the display, said Clifford Halfmann, Rowena, president of TRA.

"We are trying to have some members of TRA at the booth all the time to pass out literature and talk about Red Angus cattle," Halfmann said.

With beginning of the Association's bull test at Navarro College here Sept. 22 and 23.

There are 25 bulls in the group now undergoing a 21-day warm-up before official beginning of the test. TRA directors and officers plan to meet at the test site at 8 p.m., Dec. 2, to check results of the test to that point, and plan a Red Angus performance tested bull and female sale to be held soon after the test is completed.

Lon Hartenberger, Navasota, was re-elected vice president, and Dennis Halfmann, Miles, secretary-treasurer. New directors elected to the board are Everett Swint, Texarkana; C. J. Rollins, Garland; and Elvira Lam, Duncanville. Hold-over directors are E. T. Goodman, Dallas; Dennis Halfmann; Clark McKelvey, Justin; Tim Bauer, Winnie; Leon Gerault, Grapevine; and Joe Margan, Webster.

Ronald Reagan To Keynote Red Angus Convention Nov. 1

Denton — Red Angus Association of America members will "kickoff" their Twenty-fifth Annual Meeting in San Francisco on November 1, 1978, with the movie "American Revolution" about Ronald Reagan.

Reagan will keynote the Silver Anniversary Event at the Annual membership luncheon, which this year will be open to the public. Red Angus breeders from across the United States will serve as hosts to the beef industry.

Reagan was born and reared in Illinois. He earned his college degree in economics at Eureka College there. Then he became a radio sportscaster in Iowa, first in Davenport, then in Des Moines. One year, when he went to California to cover the Chicago Cubs' spring training, he ended up taking a screen test that landed him on a new career that included 55 feature-length films. Later, he became host of television's "General Electric Theater" and "Death Valley Days."

He was also a horse racing observer.

officer and during World War II he was Captain in the Air Force. And during his film career he was six times president of his union, the Screen Actors Guild, where he learned the art of contract negotiating.

Then in 1966, at the urging of many of his fellow Californians, our speaker ran for Governor. He won by a landslide and was reelected in 1970. During his eight years as Governor he erased California's red ink, put the state in the black, and turned back to the taxpayers $57 billion in tax credits and rebates. And, his welfare reforms have become the model for many other states.

In late 1976, our speaker responded to another call from thousands of his fellow citizens and became a candidate for the Republican nomination for President. Over the next 10 months millions of Americans supported him. When he missed the nomination by "whisker," he turned around and campaigned for his party's ticket in 28 states.

He has a nationally syndicated radio program five days a week and a newspaper column twice a week. He is chairman of Citizens for the Republic, an organization which supports many candidates from his party. He travels widely and is one of the nation's most sought-after speakers.

Tickets for the November 1 luncheon are available through the Red Angus Association of America, P. O. Box 776, Denton, TX 76201, (817) 387-3888, or through the Grand National Livestock Exposition, Box 84206, San Francisco, CA 94184 or phone (415) 684-9486.
